VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS to AHBIC are GRATEFULLY RECEIVED

AHBIC acknowledges the beekeeper suppliers who contribute via their packer/queen bee supplier to AHBIC.

We urge beekeepers to support those Packers/Queen Bee Breeders who contribute to AHBIC.

Does your HONEY BUYER or QUEENBEE SUPPLIER appear on this list?
If not, then ask “Why not?” AHBIC WORKS FOR YOU!

The following list recognises contributions received since 1 July 2013

LATEST ON HONEY LEVY REFORM AND INCREASE

Presentations by the Industry Working Group (IWG) were well received at each of the state conferences to date, with many industry representatives realising the benefits that the proposed industry coordinated biosecurity programs could deliver to beekeepers. Results (at a national level) will be made known at the AHBIC conference on 9 July 2014 in Melbourne.

It was explained at the conferences that this program is owned by the industry and, in particular, States have a big stake in this program. With further consultation taking place after the final poll results are known, States have a further opportunity to have input into this program.

The Victorian conference will be the last vote so, if there are any beekeepers who will be attending conference who have any questions, make sure you contact one of the IWG team of Craig Klingner, Ian Zadow or Sam Malfroy. They are only too willing to answer any questions you may have.

AHBIC PLEASED WITH RESULTS OF FAKE HONEY COMPLAINTS

The Australian Honey Bee Industry Council (AHBIC) is pleased that the results of its complaints to the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) have resulted in the fining of the distributors of Victoria Honey. The ACCC press release was sent out previously.

AHBIC first complained back in September, 2012 about the labelling and in 2013, after having the honey analysed in Germany, complained to the Victorian Department of Health who, after their investigations, passed it over to the ACCC.

Members of the AHBIC Food Safety and Prevention of Residues Committee have been to the forefront in pursuing these fake honeys. Also AHBIC would thank those beekeepers who have alerted us and have supplied samples. The cost of the analyses have been borne by AHBIC.

AHBIC still has a further five (5) complaints with ACCC about fake or adulterated honey. ACCC are now progressing these complaints.

In light of these imported products that are not honey or adulterated with C4 sugar, AHBIC has made representations to the Department of Agriculture to have the inspection protocol for imported honey lifted from its current 5% level.

AHBIC AGM

The AHBIC AGM is on 9 July, 2014 at the Mantra Hotel in Melbourne.

Please note that observers are welcome at the AGM but you need to register for catering purposes. That form is on the second last page of this newsletter. It needs to be in well before the AGM. If you just turn up on the day, we will not be able to cater for you because the Hotel wants numbers well before the day.

Agenda paperwork has been mailed out to all the delegates. No doubt there will be other items for consideration that will come up prior to the meeting that will need to be dealt with. Remember there are vacancies for two members on the Executive.

QUEEN BEE LEVY

Advice has been received from the Department of Agriculture that the queen bee levy will be set at zero from 1 August 2104. Those queen bee breeders who are currently paying the levy will be advised by the levies collection unit about the process for finalising the returns currently outstanding.

This means that there will now be more money available for research by the Rural Industries Research and Development Corporation because the queen bee levy was costing more to collect than it actually collected.

By having the levy set at zero, it can be re-introduced in the future, after consultation with likely levy payers.

QUEEN BEES THROUGH AUSTRALIA POST

In the past year or so there have been many problems with the delivery of queen bees through the post. Queen bees must go Express Post and there are guarantee deliveries that have not been met. This resulted in delays in the queen bees getting to the beekeepers.

Recently I went with two queen bee breeders from Queensland to the Australia Post Sorting Centre in Brisbane to talk with them about the problems. This was after about six (6) months of correspondence with Australia Post.

From talking with the staff it would seem that a tightening of regulations by the airlines was possibly the reason for the delays. We discussed how we could overcome these problems.

From the Queensland end, the queen bee breeders will advise Australia Post, by email, of how many packages there are coming to the sorting centre. This by State of destination. This way Australia Post can put in place the necessary paperwork with the airline pilots to ensure that there are no holdups with the queen bees getting away on time.

If there are still problems then Australia Post will need to look further down the line to see what is happening.

I know there have been problems in sending from New South Wales. I would suspect that it may be the same sort of problem as has been happening in Queensland. If this new system proves to be successful, it can be applied in other States.

TRADE MISSION TO CHINA

I have received a notice from the Australian International Trade and Association regarding a trade mission to China in September, 2014. If anyone is interested let me know and I can forward the information on to you.

SENATE INQUIRY INTO BEEKEEPING

The Senate Inquiry into the beekeeping and pollination service industries was to table its report on 25 June but this has been deferred till 16 July.

INQUIRY INTO COUNTRY OF ORIGIN FOOD LABELLING

I will be appearing on behalf of AHBIC at the House of Representatives Standing Committee on Agriculture into Country of Origin Food Labelling. This is to be in Brisbane on Thursday 3 July 2014.

HONEY MONTH –MAY

You would have received the Honey Month Special newsletter. Planning for next year will be discussed at the AHBIC AGM on 9 July.

GROWERS RELY ON FERAL BEES FOR POLLINATION

Something that beekeepers have known for years has been confirmed by a survey by Mark Leech. Many orchardists rely on feral bees for pollination. You can find the story at:-

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2014-06-26/crop-pollination-survey-finds-overreliance-on-feral-bees/5550850>

ASIAN BEES FOUND ON HORN ISLAND

Since the discovery of the Asian bees on Horn Island, the Queensland Department of Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry (QDAFF) had staff go to Horn Island looking for the nests. Unfortunately the weather was not kind and no nests were found. More foraging bees were found.

QDAFF staff and Dr David Guez, who is currently doing a project funded as part of the beekeeping industry's contribution to the Transition to Management Plan (T2M) on the attractants for the Asian bees, will be on Horn Island again next week and hopefully they will be successful in finding nests. For details on Dr. Guez's project see http://www.rirdc.gov.au/research-project-details/custr10_HBE/PRJ-008429

I have raised with the Department the possibility of using some remote destruction of the nests once some have been found and examined. It would be good to rid Horn Island of Asian bees if at all possible.

CHANGES AT RIRDC

The Rural Industries Research and Development Corporation (RIRDC) had the Honey Advisory Committee (HAC) and the Pollination Advisory Committee (PAC) under its wing. With RIRDC moving towards full cost recovery for their programs, the two (2) programs have been merged into one.

The number of people on the Advisory Committee has been reduced in total from the total numbers on the two (2) previous Committees. The format is to take effect from July this year. I will be able to report more in the next newsletter.
